

DTA SALES TEAM DEPARTMENT

Sales Roadmap & Playbook

How we sell DTA software, applications and websites, state by state

PAN INDIA LEVEL

For DTA sales employees and the admin team · Use together with the DTA Sales app (leads, demo requests, monthly business) · Version 1 — to be reviewed after the first 60 days of field data

1. Read this first

Goal: every DTA salesperson, in every state, follows the same simple process — find the right businesses, understand their problem, show a demo, close the deal, and keep the client happy so they renew and refer others.

What we sell

Product line	What the customer gets	Typical buyer
Software	Ready-to-use business software (billing, accounts, management tools) on a subscription — monthly / quarterly / yearly — with DTA support. Access is managed through a Client ID, so active clients run smoothly and renewals are tracked.	Traders, wholesalers, retailers, small manufacturers, service businesses
Applications	Mobile / desktop apps for a business's own customers or staff (orders, bookings, delivery, attendance, etc.).	Businesses that want their own app or a custom workflow
Websites	Business websites and online stores: design, content, hosting and maintenance.	Any business that needs an online presence or online sales

Please confirm before use (assumptions I made). I used the three product lines defined in the DTA Sales app (software / application / website), the subscription model of DTA Subscription Control, and the company name (Digital – Trading – Accounts) to write the examples. I do not have DTA's actual product list, prices or customer proof. Wherever you see a DTA to fill tag, management should add the real product names, prices and case studies before this goes to the team.

The five rules of the DTA sales team

1. Every lead goes into the DTA Sales app the same day — if it is not in the app, it does not exist.
2. Understand before you pitch. Ask first, then show only what solves their problem.
3. Demo everything that is serious. A demo, not a brochure, closes deals. Request it from the DTA team in the app.
4. Follow up on schedule. Most deals are won on the 3rd–6th contact, not the first.
5. Promise only what we deliver. Honest delivery dates, honest features, clear price. Happy clients renew and refer.

2. The sales journey — 7 steps

Each step matches a stage or action in the DTA Sales app, so your work and your numbers stay in one place.

- 1 Find — build a daily list of target businesses in your state (see section 3).
App: + Add lead with name, phone, state, city, product type (software / app / website).
- 2 Contact — call, visit or WhatsApp. Goal of the first contact is only one thing: a proper conversation.
App: stage Contacted; log the call under the lead.
- 3 Qualify — five questions: who decides, what do they use today, what hurts, what budget, and by when (section 4).
App: write the answers in Notes; set expected value and a next follow-up date.
- 4 Demo — show their problem solved, live, in 20–30 minutes (section 5).
App: Request a demo to the DTA team; stage Demo once it is scheduled or done.
- 5 Propose & negotiate — clear written offer, answer objections, agree start date.
App: stage Negotiation; update expected value.
- 6 Win — confirm, collect the advance as per DTA policy, hand over to the DTA team for setup.
App: stage Won and enter the final deal value — this feeds Monthly business. If lost, mark Lost with the reason in Notes.
- 7 Onboard, support, renew, refer — check in after 7 days and 30 days, remind before renewal, ask for a referral after a good result.
App: log activity; set a follow-up date for renewal.

Rule of thumb: a lead with no next follow-up date is a lead that will be forgotten. Never leave a lead without one unless it is Won or Lost.

3. Finding customers in your state

Who to target first

Start with businesses that already run on paper, Excel or a patchy old system and handle many bills, stock or customers each day. Ideas by segment (choose what is strong in your state): trading and wholesale shops, retail and kirana chains, medical and pharmacy stores, clinics, schools and coaching centres, hotels and restaurants, garages and workshops, small factories, transport and logistics, CAs and tax practitioners (as partners and as clients), real-estate and construction offices.

Lead source	How to use it
Walk the market	Pick one market street or industrial area per day. Visit 10–15 shops, leave a card, note the owner's name and number.
Referrals	After every good meeting ask: "Which two businesses do you know who face the same problem?" Referrals close fastest.
CAs / accountants	They know who struggles with books and GST. Offer a simple partner arrangement set by DTA management DTA to fill .
Traders' & industry associations	Ask to give a 15-minute talk or demo at a meeting. One room = many leads.
Online listings & Maps	Search "your segment + your city" on Google Maps and local directories; call businesses with no website or an outdated one (great for website sales).
WhatsApp & social	Share short demo videos and success stories in local business groups; reply fast to every enquiry.
Existing clients	Ask clients about their suppliers, customers and friends — and offer an add-on (e.g. a website for a software client).

Your weekly rhythm (suggested)

Day	Focus
Mon	Plan the week; add new leads; fix any lead without a follow-up date.
Tue – Thu	Prospecting calls and field visits; run demos; log every activity.
Fri	Follow-ups, proposals, close deals; request demos for next week.
Sat	Review your numbers in the app (leads, demos, won); learn from lost deals.

4. Qualify, then pitch

The five qualifying questions

Question	Example
Who decides?	"Besides you, who else will be part of choosing this?"
What do you use today?	"How do you handle billing / stock / customers right now?"
What is the pain?	"What takes the most time or causes the most mistakes?"
Budget?	"What have you spent on this before, or what feels reasonable?"
When?	"When would you like it running?" (If "someday", schedule a later follow-up.)

If there is no pain and no decision-maker after two honest conversations, move the lead to a long follow-up (30–60 days) and spend your time on better prospects.

Pitch by product line

Software DTA to fill: product names

Pain: manual bills, mistakes, no clear picture of stock, sales and dues.

Pitch: "Run your billing and accounts faster and with fewer errors, and know where you stand every day."

Show: create a bill, check a report, find an outstanding payment — in under 5 minutes.

Offer: subscription (monthly / yearly) with support and onboarding.

Applications

Pain: orders and bookings by phone, no way to reach customers directly.

Pitch: "Give your customers an easy way to order or book — and give yourself a record of everything."

Show: a similar app flow (sample or screenshots).

Offer: scoped build with clear milestones, delivery date and maintenance plan.

Websites

Pain: customers can't find the business online; competitors look more professional.

Pitch: "Be found on Google and look trustworthy before the customer even calls."

Show: live samples in their own segment.

Offer: design + hosting + maintenance package; online store as an upgrade.

Bundles & upsell

Software + website, or website + app, is easier to justify than separate buys. After a software client is stable (30–60 days), offer a website or app. Pricing for bundles is set by DTA management DTA to fill.

5. The demo playbook

A demo is where deals are won. Use the Request a demo button in the DTA Sales app — the request reaches the DTA admin team, who schedule it and message you the date and meeting details.

Before	Do this
Qualify first	Request demos only for leads with a real problem and a decision-maker present.
Brief the team	In the request notes: what the client does, their pain, what to focus on, who will attend.
Confirm	Send the client date, time, link or address, and who from DTA will attend. Reconfirm the day before.

The 25-minute structure

1. 2 min — Agenda: "I'll show how we solve the problem you described, then we'll talk about next steps."
2. 3 min — Their problem: repeat it in their words.
3. 12 min — Show the solution: only the 3 features that solve their pain, using their kind of data.
4. 5 min — Questions & objections: answer honestly; if you don't know, say you'll confirm within 24 hours.
5. 3 min — Next step: "Shall we start next week? What do you need to get it approved?" Fix a date for the decision.

After the demo (within 24 hours): send a short summary on WhatsApp / email with the offer, price, start date and the agreed decision date. Update the stage in the app and set the follow-up date.

Sample messages

First call: "Namaste, I'm ___ from DTA in ___. We help businesses like yours ___ (save time on billing / get more customers online). Can I take two minutes to ask how you handle this today?"

After demo: "Thank you for your time today. As discussed, here is the summary: ___. Offer: ___. Start date: ___. Shall I confirm for ___?"

Follow-up: "Hi ___, just checking if you had a chance to discuss with your partner. Happy to answer any question — would Thursday 4 pm work for a quick call?"

6. Handling objections

Listen fully, agree with the concern, answer with facts, then ask for the next step. Never argue.

They say	You can answer
"It is too expensive."	"I understand. What matters is what it saves — if it saves X hours and avoids mistakes each month, it pays for itself. Let's compare the monthly cost with the time and errors you have today." Offer the monthly plan before discounts.
"We already use Excel / another software."	"Good — then you know what you need. What is the one thing it does not do well? Let me show how we handle that one thing."
"My staff won't learn it."	"We train your team and support them after the start. We'll begin with just the daily tasks."
"Is my data safe?"	Explain how data is stored and backed up, who can access it, and how access is controlled DTA to fill: confirm the facts . Never promise what you cannot confirm.
"I need to think / ask my partner."	"Of course. What would you want to be clear on before deciding? Can we speak again on ___ with your partner joining?"
"Send me details on WhatsApp."	Send a short, specific message — not a brochure — and fix a call time: "I'll call you Thursday at 5 to answer questions."
"A local person will do it cheaper."	"Cheaper can cost more later. We offer ongoing support, updates and a company behind you. Let me show you what happens after the sale."
"Not now — maybe later."	Find the real reason, agree a date to talk again, and set it in the app. Stay useful (share a tip or a case study).

Pricing and discount principles

- Use the price list set by DTA management DTA to fill. Do not invent prices in the field.
- Sell value first, discount last. If a discount is allowed, trade it for something — a yearly plan, advance payment, or a referral.
- Never discount more than the limit set by management without approval.
- Put the scope, price, payment terms and start date in writing before work starts.

7. Follow-up cadence

Set the Next follow-up date in the app after every contact. The app highlights overdue follow-ups so nothing is missed.

When	Action	Content
Day 0	First contact	Understand the need; book the demo or a second call.
Day 1	Thank-you message	Short WhatsApp: what was discussed and the agreed next step.
Day 3	Value follow-up	Send one useful thing: a sample, short video or a case study from their segment.
Day 7	Call	Check questions; confirm demo or decision date.
Day 14	Call + offer	Share the written offer; ask what is holding the decision.
Day 30	Re-engage	New angle: limited-time start offer (if management approves), or a referral from a happy client.
After 3 honest attempts	Long follow-up	Move the next follow-up to 45–60 days; focus on live leads.

After you win

When	Action
Same day	Mark Won with the final deal value in the app; hand over details to the DTA team for setup.
Day 7	Call: is everything working? Does the team need more training?
Day 30	Check results; ask for feedback and a testimonial or referral.
Before renewal	Remind them 2–3 weeks early; fix issues first; renew calmly, not at the last minute.
Day 60 onward	Offer an add-on (website, app, extra module) if it fits.

8. 12-month roadmap

Phase	Focus	Milestones / how we know it worked
Month 0–1 Foundation	Complete the product list, price list and approved discount limits DTA to fill . Create a login for each state employee. Train everyone on this playbook and the DTA Sales app. Prepare demo accounts, sample websites and one-page product sheets.	Every employee has a login and has added their first 20 leads. Demo kit ready. First demos booked.
Month 1–3 Launch	Every state employee builds a lead list, visits markets, runs demos weekly. Admin reviews the Overview and Online/Activity pages weekly and coaches.	Steady weekly demos in every state. First won clients in most states. First testimonials collected.
Month 3–6 Scale what works	Compare states and segments in Monthly business and Overview. Double down on the segments that convert. Start partner programme with CAs and associations. Publish 3–5 short case studies.	A repeatable pitch per segment. Referrals begin to appear. Win rate and sales cycle known with real data.
Month 6–9 Retain & upsell	Renewal calendar for every subscription client. Upsell websites / apps to software clients. Fix the top 3 reasons deals were lost.	High on-time renewals. Add-on sales recorded per employee.
Month 9–12 Expand	Add employees or partners in states with strong demand; share best practices from the top performers; local-language materials where needed. Plan next year's targets from actual data.	Year-end review using Monthly business (financial year view). Next year's targets and state plan agreed.

Review rhythm: weekly 30-minute team call (pipeline, demos, blockers) · monthly review with the admin (numbers per employee and state) · quarterly reset of targets, scripts and offers.

9. Targets and the numbers that matter

Track the funnel, not just the final sales. If activity is right, results follow. All of these numbers are already in the DTA Sales app (Overview, Leads, Demo requests, Monthly business).

Measure	Why it matters
New leads added	Fills the funnel; shows daily prospecting effort.
Conversations / activities logged	Calls, visits and meetings — the leading indicator.
Demos requested and held	Demos are the best predictor of wins.
Clients won and deal value	The result — see the Monthly business page (calendar or financial year).
Follow-ups overdue	Should be close to zero.
Renewals on time	Keeps recurring revenue stable.

How to set a monthly target backwards

Start from the clients you want, then work back using your conversion rates:

Example only — illustrative numbers, not a promise. Goal: 4 clients a month. If about 1 in 4 demos is won, you need 16 demos. If about 3 in 10 serious conversations lead to a demo, you need about 54 conversations. If about 6 in 10 leads can be reached and talked to, you need about 90 new leads a month (roughly 4 a working day).

After your first 2 months, replace these rates with your real ones from the app. Real rates differ by state and product.

Funnel stage	Your monthly target (fill in)
New leads
Serious conversations
Demos held
Clients won
Business value (₹)

Daily routine in the DTA Sales app (10 minutes)

1. Morning: open My leads → Follow-up due and handle those first.
2. After every call or visit: log it under the lead and set the next follow-up date.
3. Move stages the same day they change.
4. Won a deal? Mark Won and enter the final deal value.
5. Evening: add today's new leads; request demos for serious ones.

10. State rollout planner

Management and each state employee fill this in together at the start of Month 1, and update it every quarter. Start where you already have contacts and strong local businesses, then expand.

State	Employee	Top 3 segments	Key cities / markets	Q1 / Q2 goals (leads, demos, clients)

Do and don't

Do

- Log every lead and activity the same day.
- Ask questions before pitching.
- Be on time for demos and calls.
- Follow up on the dates you set.
- Be honest about features and timelines.
- Ask happy clients for referrals.

Don't

- Don't promise features or dates you can't confirm.
- Don't quote prices or discounts outside the approved list.
- Don't share your login with anyone.
- Don't criticise competitors; show your value instead.
- Don't leave leads without a next follow-up.
- Don't ignore a client after the sale.

Remember: the best sales team is the one clients trust. Be helpful, be consistent, and keep the data in the app up to date — that is how DTA grows across India.
